The types of decorators.

The Design Experts

There are three types of decorators and levels of expertise within Mariposa Painting & Decorating Canada. Decorators can continually evolve their skills and advance their careers to the most elite level of Premier Designer.

General Decorator

1st Level of Expertise.

A General Decorator performs the tasks of decorative painting that includes the application of wallcoverings, and taking the lead with murals and artisan techniques. Additionally, General Decorators must master their skills as a specialized painter and will frequently participate in a variety of painting projects.

Decorative Designer

2nd Level of Expertise.

A Decorative Designer performs the tasks of consultation and the project management of projects that include decorating. The authority of a Decorative Designer on a project exceeds painters. A decorative Designer is ultimately responsible for all product ordering, delivery, and arrangement. Decorative Designers are both motivated and requested to evolve their skills in the areas of commercial and industrial property design.

Premier Designer

3rd Level of Expertise.

A Premier Designer performs the tasks of managing the most evolved projects that include all decorating aspects and components of home makeover and commercial property enhancement. Premier Designers have advanced their capabilities that involve architecture and structural design that extends across all service areas of residential, commercial, and industrial property improvement and development projects.
