Painting careers

Mastering the artistic and technical skill of painting.

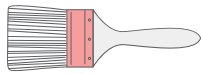

Applying our skills and knowledge to deliver excellence.

We can offer you painting challenges on a scale that few companies can match. Here, you'll work on major commercial and new home building projects and develop cutting-edge techniques and apply creative and perhaps even innovative thinking solutions to deliver a standard of excellence. You'll play a role in the future of painting as you build a career in areas that could range from project management and design to business operations management. Join us and define the future for yourself, and most of all for our company with enormous potential to evolve into the number 1# spot within the painting and decorating service industry.

Become a valued member of Team Mariposa.

How you can evolve.

You can begin with no experience and we will extensively train you, or you can already have experience and evolve your painting skills even further. At Mariposa, we believe that a painter can never stop trying to advance their capabilities and master their trade.

Professional Painter

You can begin with no experience and learn the skills as a Painter Trainee, or if you have some experience than you can begin as a Professional Painter. Your responsibilities are the general painting tasks on a project site.

Lead Painter

As you have evolved your skills and are considered a master trades person, you can continue to evolve your leadership capabilities in project management.

Crew Chief

As a Crew Chief you will have evolved into a leader that can manage the overall aspects of a painting project. You will further evolve your capabilities in the area of on-site project management.

Supervisor

You will have become the most vital person in the daily operations of the company. You will be essentially responsible for maintaining the functionality and efficiency of the overall operating unit.

How we operate and function as an effective team.

There are several members of Team Mariposa that contribute to achieving success in our daily operations as a company. We appreciate and cooperate with each other so that we can effectively maintain our reputation of being Second To None!

The Painter

At Mariposa, we realize and value our painters. We recognize painters as a symbolic ambassador of our company. Without our painters, nothing will function. Therefore, we consistently invest time and effort into enabling career advancement and benefits from created opportunity.

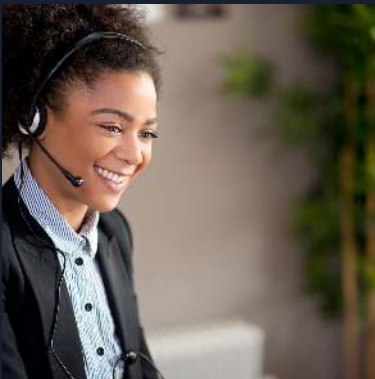

The Crew Chief

Our enormously valued Crew Chiefs, to whom we appreciate as the backbone of our company. It's through the diligence and dedication of Crew Chiefs that Mariposa is able to succeed and rapidly grow as a company with tremendous potential.

The Supervisor

The men and women who are our supervisors are considered super heroes, without their brilliance and commitment, Mariposa would cease to exist as a leader within the painting and decorating service industry.

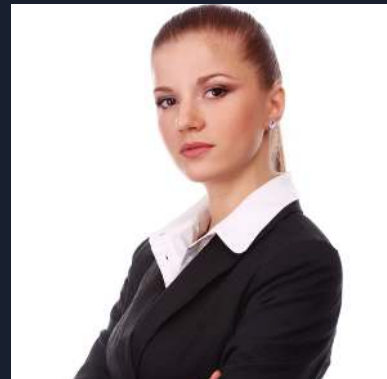

Project Coordinator

Our talented and most wonderful Project Coordinators, what would the rest of us do without them. Project Coordinators keep everything on track so that every project can be completed successfully.

General Manager

Hail to our glorious leader... The one who makes everything that is known as Mariposa great and even possible. Our General Managers are role models and mentors for everyone within the daily operations.

Decorative Designer

At Mariposa, we recognize and appreciate the wonderful abilities of each Decorative Designer. The creative image of the company is primarily owed to the skills and talents of our designers and general decorators.
